Winter 2012

A letter from Wiggly...

Wiggly wants to know:

Did you get any money as gifts during the holidays? Now is the time to think about what to do with that money. You should take your money and split it into three groups:

1. Long-Term Savings - Save some money for something you will want in the future. This may be an expensive item like a video game system, a bicycle, or college. Every time you add money to your long-term savings, you will be closer to reaching your goal.
2. Intermediate Savings - Save for something that you might want in the next few months. One idea is to start saving now for summer vacation.
3. Short-Term Savings - Make sure to keep a little money for yourself so you can buy things that you might want soon. You might find something less expensive that you would like to buy while shopping with mom or dad at the store.

Remember to deposit (put) your money in your share (savings) account. That way it will be safe and will grow over time. You can always add to it or withdraw (take it out) it when you need it.
